

Krista Jelisavac

BScN, RN

Heart Function Clinic

Saskatoon, SK

Krista is a nurse clinician in the Heart Function Clinic in Saskatoon, SK. She completed her Bachelor of Science in Nursing degree from the University of Saskatchewan and has since worked in cardiology for the past 20 years. Her career began on the cardiosciences ward where she obtained her certification in Cardiovascular Nursing. She spent 10 years in CCU before pursuing her long term goal of joining the Heart Function Clinic. Her passion is working with the heart failure population and is committed to help improve quality and access to heart failure care in the community, provincially, and nationally. She is a member of the Nursing Allied Health Council since its origin in 2019 and joined the Canadian Heart Failure Society as a board member in 2020.

When not at work, she enjoys spending time with her husband and 2 sons often travelling, exploring nature, and expanding her cooking skills.
